Natsukashii with Mr. Kohrogi

Natsukashii (japan.) means coming home, finding yourself. Life is a constant change of day and night. We easily lose ourselves in those polarities and forget the perfection of existence. We also forget that we are already perfect. Through exercises and meditation we experience how easy it is to realize this perfection again. Natsukashii is the condition you had before discipline and education, before you were involved in a certain fate.

„What I say is, let us return to the place, before we were conditioned not to perceive life as exciting and joyful.”

(Mamoru Kohrogi, Tokyo, Spring 2007)
